Immigrant (Column AE)

Is the student considered an immigrant?

The term "eligible immigrant student" is defined as an individual student who (a) is aged three through twenty-one; (b) was not born in any state (each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico); and (c) has not been attending any one or more schools in the United States for more than three full school years. (20 U.S.C. § 7011[6])

Code	Description	Definition
1	Yes
0	No

User Notes

1. Immigrant status remains for the entire year.
2. A child adopted at age 3-21 who meets the criteria is an immigrant.
3. In the educational environment, a student is classified as an immigrant only until the student has attended US schools for a cumulative period of three years. Once the three years of eligibility for immigrant status have been met, the immigrant indicator should be updated at the end of the school term. Example: An immigrant student attended one year of school in Texas before arriving in Iowa and would be eligible for immigrant status for two additional years.
4. Immigrants (adults and children) come to the U.S. with the intention of making this country their permanent home and have no intention of returning to their countries of origin. Schools may not question immigrant students as to their "legal" status and may not demand their "documentation." Pursuant to Plyler v. Doe, public school districts shall provide these students, assuming they meet residency requirements, with tuition-free education.
5. If left blank in template, default will be '0' when uploaded.
