

FUN FACTS ABOUT

Chicken

- Chickens that are raised for laying eggs are called layers.
- Chickens that are raised for meat are called broilers.
- Farmers raise chickens on all continents, except Antarctica.
- There are more chickens than humans in the world.
- Chicken meat is very high in nutritional value, including protein.
- The four primal cuts of poultry are: breast, wing, thigh and drumstick.

The USDA is an equal opportunity provider and employer.

